

Creation of the leading European online gaming and sports betting business

20 October 2008

Transaction Overview

- Combination of William Hill's online operations ("William Hill Interactive") with certain affiliates of Playtech and other assets ("the Purchased Assets") to create the leading European online gaming and sports betting business ("William Hill Online")
 - Pro forma estimated 2008 net revenues of £190m and EBITA of £75m
 - William Hill will have a 71% controlling interest in William Hill Online, and Playtech 29%, based on relative contribution to EBITA
 - William Hill has an option to acquire Playtech's interest on an independent fair value basis, exercisable after 4 and 6 years
 - William Hill Online has entered into a software agreement for a minimum of 5 years with Playtech, a leading online software and services provider, for poker and casino, with an option to move into other product areas
- Generates significant shareholder value and enhanced growth prospects whilst requiring only limited upfront cash
 - Earnings positive in year one and significantly accretive thereafter ⁽¹⁾

Strategic Rationale for the Acquisition

- The combination brings together two highly complementary businesses
 - William Hill Interactive brings strength of brand, sports betting expertise and an established UK customer base and profit stream
 - The Purchased Assets bring online marketing and customer retention expertise, an extensive affiliate network and an established European customer base and profit stream
- Software agreement with Playtech will give access to the largest poker network outside the US
- Transformational step, consistent with William Hill's stated strategy to increase online gaming and international earnings. William Hill Online will be:
 - The leading European online gaming and sports betting business
 - The clear leader in online gaming and sports betting amongst UK land based gaming and betting operators
 - Well positioned to accelerate online revenue and profit growth in the UK and across Europe
